McMinn's Color Atlas of Human Anatomy By Peter H. Abrahams, Ralph T. Hutchings

With an emphasis on clinically related material, this colour atlas covers surface anatomy, osteology, clinically/anatomical relationships and neuroanatomy as well as general anatomy. Its intention is to represent the reality of the dissecting room with photographs of dissections and specimens dissected are reinforced by MRI, CT scans, ultrasound and traditional radiography images. Interpretive line drawings accompany the more intricate dissections to improve understanding. Text describes the key anatomical features, with revision notes on all major dissections.

Editorial Review

About the Author

Peter H. ABRAHAMS , MB BS, FRCS (Ed), FRCR

We have few authors as dynamic and entrepreneurial as Peter Abrahams. He combines a part-time Family Practitioner job, in a busy North London GP practice, with academic positions at Girton College and Kigezi School in Cambridge, in addition to numerous publishing activities (ranging from Editorial Board of Clinical Anatomy to Consultant on Inside the Human Body). He has been involved in the publication of numerous Mosby anatomy titles, in print and non-print formats, and took over the McMinn atlas in its last, fourth edition. He is an efficient, business-like author with a great delivery record.

Sandy C. MARKS Jr. BS, DDS, PhD

Sandy is a graduate with highest honours from Washington and Lee University (B.S.1960, the University of North Carolina School of Dentistry (D.D.S. 1964) and the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine (Ph.D. in Anatomy 1968). He did postdoctoral training at the National Naval Medical Center and the National Institute of Dental Research before joining the Department of Anatomy at the University of Massachusetts Medical School in 1970, where he is presently Professor of Cell Biology, Radiology and Surgery. He has taught anatomy, cell biology, neuroanatomy and embryology since 1965 and has been the North American Editor of the journal Clinical Anatomy since 1991. He is a founding member and former President of the American Association of Clinical Anatomists and has been an External Assessor and External Examiner in Anatomy for medical and dental students at the National University of Singapore and at the University of Malaya. He was brought on as U.S. co-author of the 4th edition of McMinn's Color Atlas of Human Anatomy, in a bid to improve the book's marketability in North America.

Ralph Hutchings

Ralph is now a freelance photographer, sculptor and restorer of vintage cars! Earlier in his career he was photographer at the Royal College of Surgeons, under the management of Bob McMinn. He owns the copyright to all images taken at the RCS at that time, and has in his possession copies of most of the photographs used in all the Mosby(-Wolfe) anatomy atlases published down the years...
