Representing Animals From Nigel Rothfels

Representing Animals explores the complex and often surprising connections between our imagining of animals and our cultural environment. The contributors?historians, literary critics, anthropologists, artists, art historians, and scholars of cultural studies?examine the ways we talk, write, photograph, imagine, and otherwise represent animals. The book includes topics such as pet cloning, fox hunting, animatronic characters, and how we displace our fear of aging onto our dogs.

Representing Animals demonstrates the deep connections between the way we think about animals and the way we have thought about ourselves and our cultures in different times and places. Its publication marks a formative moment in the emerging field of animal studies.

Contributors:

Steve Baker, Marcus Bullock, Jane Desmond, Erica Fudge, Andrew Isenberg, Kathleen Kete, Akira Mizuta Lippit, Teresa Mangum, Garry Marvin, Susan McHugh, and Nigel Rothfels.

Editorial Review

Review

"...I recommend Representing Animals to scholars and others interested in how cultural representations of animals have influenced society and impacted actual animals.... the book's cohesive message that the problems of nonhuman animals are very much our problems as well should be counted as a strength and a message that all parties might break bread over." ?net

About the Author
