Murach's ASP.NET 4.5 Web Programming with C# 2012 (Murach: Training & Reference) By Mary Delamater, Anne Boehm

There is an updated version of this book

If you know the basics of C#, you're ready to learn to develop server-side web applications with ASP.NET...and that's where this book comes in:

- Section 1 presents a quick-start course on ASP.NET Web Forms, Visual Studio tools, and the role of HTML5/CSS3...a course that works both for beginners and for experienced web developers who are new to ASP.NET
- Section 2 gives you the skills you need for every web application...like how to use the server controls, validate user entries, manage state, use master pages and themes, provide site navigation, and use friendly URLs
- Section 3 presents the skills you need for developing database-driven web sites at a professional level...including how to use SQL data sources, object data sources, and ASP.NET data controls like the GridView, DetailsView, FormView, and ListView controls
- Section 4 covers skills that enhance your professionalism...like how to develop secure web pages, authorize and authenticate users, send email, control the use of the Back button, and deploy finished applications
- Section 5 takes you to the next level by showing you how to use ASP.NET Ajax, how to develop WCF and Web API services, and how ASP.NET MVC programming differs from Web Forms programming

To make it easier for you to master ASP.NET, you get complete web applications...including the web forms, the aspx code, and the C# code...that show you how each feature works in context. (You can download these for free from the Murach web site.) You get chapter exercises that let you practice your new skills. And you get Murach's distinctive "paired-pages" format that developers like because it saves both training and reference time.

Editorial Review

About the Author
Mary Delamater has been building applications for clients since 2006. Her specialty is ASP.NET intranet applications but she also builds desktop applications and has developed a specialized content management system for her software development company, TechKnowSolve.

Mary has a bachelor's degree from Lewis-Clark State College and holds several Microsoft Certifications, including Microsoft Certified Professional, Microsoft Certified Technical Specialist, and Microsoft Certified Professional Developer. Mary is also proficient in working with SQL Server and MySQL databases, and with non-Microsoft technologies like PHP and jQuery.

Anne Boehm has over 30 years of experience as an enterprise programmer. She got started with Visual Basic in the days of VB5, and has been programming on .NET since its inception. In the past 5 years, she's added C# to her programming repertoire, and she's authored or co-authored books on Visual Basic, C#, ADO.NET, and ASP.NET.
